

We as a state should have the right to strengthen a federal law if we so choose. Additionally if I did business with a company in the last 18 months but asked them to put me on their do not call list that should be honored, regardless of my doing business with them or not. I could of had a bad experience 3 months ago and don't want them to call me any longer and that should be respected. Thank you.